Blinkit, a fast-growing quick-commerce platform, aims to optimize its sales performance, customer satisfaction, and inventory distribution.

Insight 1: Sales by Fat Content

Story:

When analyzing product categories based on fat content (Low Fat vs Regular):

- Regular fat products generated higher total sales
- However, low-fat products had better average ratings

Insight:

Customers are buying taste-driven products more, but health-conscious products drive satisfaction

Business Opportunity:

- Promote low-fat items better
- Bundle healthy products with popular items

Insight 2: Sales by Item Type

Story:

Different product categories contribute unevenly to revenue:

- Top-performing categories: Snacks, Dairy, Beverages
- Low-performing categories: Some niche or specialty items

Insight:

High-frequency consumption items dominate revenue.

Business Opportunity:

- Focus inventory & promotions on high-demand categories
- Re-evaluate or reposition low-performing items

Insight 3: Fat Content by Outlet

Story:

Across different outlets:

- Some outlets sell more regular items
- Others perform better in low-fat segments

Insight:

Customer preferences vary by location/outlet.

Business Opportunity:

- Personalize inventory per outlet
- Use regional demand patterns for stocking

Insight 4: Sales by Outlet Establishment

Story:

Older vs newer outlets show different performance:

- Established outlets generate higher sales
- New outlets are still building demand

Insight:

Time plays a key role in customer trust and repeat purchases.

Business Opportunity:

- Run promotions for new outlets
- Improve visibility & delivery speed

Insight 5: Sales by Outlet Size

Story:

- Medium & Large outlets contribute the highest sales
- Small outlets have limited inventory → lower sales

Insight:

Bigger outlets = more variety = more sales

Business Opportunity:

- Expand high-performing outlet sizes
- Optimize inventory in smaller outlets

Insight 6: Sales by Location

Story:

- Urban areas dominate revenue
- Some regions underperform

Insight:

Demand is highly location-driven.

Business Opportunity:

- Focus marketing in high-performing cities
- Improve logistics in low-performing areas

Insight 7: Metrics by Outlet Type

Story:

Different outlet types (Grocery Store, Supermarket, etc.) show:

- Variation in sales, ratings, and item count
- Some outlets balance both sales + satisfaction
- Others focus only on volume

Insight:

Not all outlets are optimized equally.

Business Opportunity:

- Benchmark best-performing outlet types
- Standardize successful strategies
